Applicant's election of species to include liquid ozone for the antimicrobial agent and nitrogen for the chilling gas (Claims 1-3, 11-13, and 15-27) is acknowledged. It is noted that this is an election of species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 13, 16, 17, 20, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bender et al (US 5512309 or 5700507).

Bender et al (US 5512309 or 5700507) teach a process for treating a food commodity comprising applying antimicrobial chemicals to the food commodity and chilling the food commodity wherein prior to chilling the food is treated with a liquid chemical agent (see entire corresponding patents).

Claims 1-3, 11-13, 15, 18-25, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Caraccioto, Jr. et al (US 6167709).

Caraccioto, Jr. et al teach a method of preserving a food commodity comprising applying antimicrobial chemicals to the food commodity and chilling the food commodity wherein ozone and nitrogen are used (see entire patent).
